WILLIAM A. WIRT

January 21, 1874-March 11, 1938

Of what use is language on an occasion like this—a memorial to Mr. William A. Wirt, the guiding influence in the Gary Public Schools? Silence seems a more perfect tribute.

It was here in Emerson School that Mr. Wirt's educational ideal first materialized. Emerson School is proud to be the first complete expression of this ideal, the Work-Study-Play philosophy of education. Emerson School stands as a symbol of this philosophy. When Emerson School was planned thirty years ago, the space selected for its site was wilderness and sandy acres, but today it is ten acres of well-cared-for grounds. Now within this space, housed within three structures, there are well-managed playgrounds, well-planned science laboratories, art and music studios, shops, libraries, and classrooms.

This environment creates a child world within the adult world in our city in which children may be kept wholesomely busy all day long at work, study, and play. Through such a program, it is possible to solve the problem of making the modern city a fit place for the rearing of children.

Modern educators agree that it is the duty of the school to industry, to the modern home, and to the church to make the child intelligent, reliable, industrious, and strong physically. To take the child away from the streets and alleys and places of dissipation, from homes in the slum districts and to inform him about modern industrial and social life is the ideal behind the Gary schools. Essentially the school is a playground, a garden, a workshop, a social center, a library, and a stage combined under one management.

In the planning of Gary, schools were given early consideration. The superintendent of these schools had to be a man of vision; one who could see into the future. Such a man was Mr. Wirt. Because of his vision, Mr. Wirt, like the American philosopher, Ralph Waldo Emerson, after whom our school is named, belongs to no one town, province, or continent; he is the common property of mankind. Yet we love to think of him as breathing the same air and treading the same halls that we and some of our fathers have breathed and trodden, and we hope that our children may breathe and tread.

We are grateful for the heritage left us by this great educator. The Work-Study-Play program of our schools could well be adopted by all men as a standard by which to live. The three form a triangle of living and man is not complete if he leaves out one side. In our school system, the boy and the girl are required to live the triangular life of the Work-Study-Play ideal. It is unfortunate, but true, that some drop one side of the triangle upon leaving school.

Mr. Wirt needs no monument other than the Gary schools and their influence in the lives of boys and girls, for we remember that the child is father to the man. It is for us, the graduates and present students, to be dedicated to the unfinished work he so nobly advanced at the beginning of the twentieth century. It is for us to be here dedicated to the great assignment that confronts us. Mr. Wirt's service to this community for the past thirty years has ignited a torch of increased devotion to the great cause of education for all. Let us resolve that his work shall not have been in vain; for with God's aid let us strive to make every one of his dreams for us and ours come true.

SCENARIO: YOUTH ON PARADE

On location, the camera reels before us a series of events that create a plot always closely knit by the strands, Work, Study, and Play. The unreeling may seem to include odd camera angles, but the theme of the scenario, Youth on Parade, is ever in sharp focus.

The unreeling gives us flashes of the busy world of Emerson stressing in subject, comedy, tragedy, farce, high comedy, and melodrama; in form, special features, double features, serials, news reels, shorts, and animated cartoons, but all contributing to the Emerson chronicle of 1938.

BOARD OF CONTROL

While the directors and assistant directors are busy grinding out Emersonian achievements and activities, the student directors, the Board of Control, keep their cameras working well beyond the eight-hour day and the five-day week.

Party caucuses, campaigns, nominations and elections are not confined to discussion in civics classes. The Board of Control is the laboratory of the civics class. It functions as good citizenship by the practice of co-operation and responsibility.

In the spring of the year officers and representatives to the Board are chosen by members of the student body. The constitution provides for a senior president, a junior vice-president, a secretary, cheer leaders, a girl and boy representative from each class, representatives from the various clubs and from the auditorium department. The major offices for the 1937-38 term are filled by Eugene Carnahan, president; George Rand, vice-president, and Frank Kotora, secretary.

The Board of Control is divided into four main divisions, the most important being the Building and Grounds Committee. The duties of this committee are to preserve order in our building and beauty on our grounds. Violators of the committee's statutes are reprimanded at the daily session of the student court which is presided over by Clifford Hansen, chairman of the Building and Grounds committee. John Reid, faculty advisor, sits in on the sessions, but penalties are set and executed by students.

Responsible students are stationed throughout the day at various points in the corridors. These individuals, known as hall guards, maintain order and direct visitors. The monitors are under the immediate supervision of appointed directors, called head hall guards. Serving in this capacity are Dorothy Cooper, George Starkey, Joe Boswell, Clifford Hansen, Victor Naspinski, Tom Kane, Chester Wasy, and Fred Meese.

"Boost your team!" "Support the annual!" "Attend the opera!" The Booster Committee of the Board of Control is responsible for these endless entreaties. Acting as chairman of this group is Lottie Herrold. Membership consists of selected students and the cheerleaders. Michael Verkuilen is faculty sponsor of the committee.

The third branch of the Board of Control is the Scholarship Committee. It meets monthly to compute the percentage of honor students and those eligible and ineligible. Pauline Wineinger is chairman in charge of this committee. It is composed of a representative from each register appointed by the register teacher. D. C. Connerley is the faculty sponsor.

"Tickets, tickets, please!" This familiar phrase is the cry of Richard Mitchell, Athletic Finance Chairman, and his assistants, James Holman and George Lesenyie. Mrs. Margaret Beedy, office clerk, assists them in distributing the tickets to the athletic events and collecting the money. The boys take the tickets at the door. Coaches Rolfe and Brasaemle are the sponsors.

Help in managing introductions gracefully, getting through the mazes of the Big Apple, thanking a partner properly, and having the correct regulations for a successful dance are a few of the many responsibilities of the Social Committee. The student body is particularly appreciative of the matinee dances originated and promoted by this committee. Estelle Smith was this year's chairman. Gertrude Jane Reynolds is sponsor.

EMERSONIA

Emerson was the first school built to the design of the Work-Study-Play system.

Frank Knotts, the first Gold Star boy, created the Emerson crest and shield.

The formal opening and closing of school sessions by means of bugle calls was originated at Emerson by Major W. W. Edwards.

The Gary R.O.T.C. banner was designed at Emerson.

Mr. E. A. Spaulding set up the first animal husbandry yard at Emerson School.

Emerson started the first art collection.

The first regular theatrical stage used in a school building was constructed for Emerson.

Emerson had the first indoor swimming pool in Indiana.

The first school newspaper started at Emerson.

The only Gary school having a daily register meeting is Emerson.

STARS OF '38

Reel two finds the camera focused on the presentation of the sophomore class play, "Cinderella", starring Edith Jackson as the coy Cinderella and Dean Haegens as the pursuing Prince Charming. Other admirable roles are played by Nelson Johnson and Carmen De Volle.

The scene dissolves to a view of merry couples two-stepping midst red hearts and doilies at the Sophomore Hop.

Reel three: A fade-in reveals an array of delicate beauty displayed on Junior Rose Day. We see the class of '38' topping the sales of their predecessors by selling a record of 10,500 blooms.

The scene shifts to the hall of lights and smell of grease-paint to immortalize James M. Barrie's "Little Minister".

Nelson Johnson verifies the old adage that all good things come in small packages by creating a memorable "Little Minister".

Lights are dimmed; a hush falls; a shaft of light, piercing the darkness, reaches the silver sheet. "Hit Parade", the history of "38", four years in the making, is on the screen!

A medium close shot picks up the debut of "38" disclosing more talent and enthusiasm than the set has experienced since motion pictures began talking.

Reel one discloses in a panoramic view Eugene Carnahan, freshman president, and Lottie Herrold "getting acquainted" at the Christmas dance. The class colors, green and white, later changed to blue and silver, are introduced at the staging of the Freshman Frolic.

Brocklehurst; all do well under the excellent direction of Miss Margaret Paul.

Today's stars meet socially in the Masonic Temple for probably the last time to bid adieu to friends and fellow workers at the Senior Farewell. During the Grand March a spotlight is focused on the dynamic president of the Senior class, Wallace McCormack.

The caps and gowns of distinction are sheltering happy hearts and serious minds at the ceremonies of Vocational Commencement, Convocation, Baccalaureate, and the day of tribute, Commencement. As the symphony in gray moves in solemn procession up the aisle of stately Memorial Auditorium the camera hesitates to take a close-up of the two leaders, the Valedictorian and Salutatorian, Helen Jascovik and Arthur Lebo.

Reel four: A glass shot reflects the seniors "Big Appling" into the wind-up of their camera career on the school set. Truckin' and peckin' share honors at the senior couple dance, a feature of the winter season.

As a splendid climax to their appearances behind the footlights we perceive the seniors presenting James M. Barrie's "Admirable Crichton". Dean Haerens and Charles Thomas double in the role of the humble English butler. Other members of the cast are Martha Youwer as Tweeny; Joe Boswell, Lord Loam; George McCain and Charles Holmes, Ernest; Laura Lee Brown, Lady Mary; Wilma Bewick, Agatha; Dorothy Cooper, Catherine; Bill Wexler, Lord Brocklehurst; and Norine Westcott, Lady

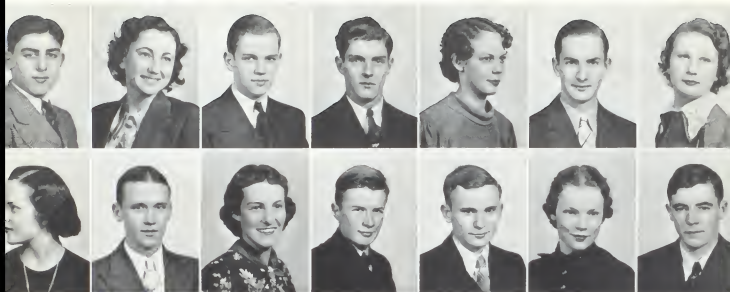

He is co-starred with petite Wilma Bewick as the impish Babbie. The supporting cast includes Faye Myers as the poverty-stricken Nanny; Mary O'Meara, the loving Mrs. Dishart; Dean Haerens, the benevolent Dr. McQueen; and Paul Komisarick, the repentant Bob Dow.

A close-up shows the Emerson insignia, crowned by the numeral "38" encircling the fingers of proud juniors.

This action shot of the Junior Prom is indeed a high light of the third reel! The jolly juniors, led by that Queen of Humor, Norine Westcott, are certainly disguising the faithful two-step.

The majority rules! After anxious months of pleading and petitioning the juniors are awarded the privilege of having an annual.

TOMORROW'S STARS

Today's stars are tomorrow's memories but the click, click of the camera wheel and piercing commands of the directors do not cease with the retirement of today's stars. Their envied roles are immediately assumed by their worthy successors, the juniors.

The new stars, the director's delight of 1939, must win their way to stardom.

Reflecting the glory gained in "Little Women" they play a return engagement in "Remember the Day" presented March 25, 1938.

A refreshing appearance and aroma was given the set by the pre-seniors on Junior Rose Day, April 22, 1938.

The faithful camera worked overtime on the evening of May 14, 1938 to take technicolor shots of the excited "Prommers" crowding Masonic Temple. Arlene Anderson and her escort led the scenes which "shot" so well.

1938 stars chose their insignia, the class ring, December 6, 1937.

May the stars of tomorrow so glow with glory that their light will shine after them.

STAND-INS

Reflecting a year's experience in stage presence these stand-ins returned to the set, prepared to scale another rung on the ladder, success.

Against a setting of large red apples, descriptive of the current dance fad, the "Big Apple", the Sophomore Hop is "shot" in an all-too hasty period of three hours on the night of February 3, 1938, with Bob Johnson, class president and Angeline Kral "spotted".

A high light of their second season's activities is the class play, "The Merchant Gentlemen", presented December 10, 1937. The aptitude exhibited by the young players in their premier stage performance gives every indication of a promising future.

COMING ATTRACTIONS

In the fall of 1937 the announcement is flashed on the enrollment screen in the tones of powder blue and silver that 278 new star-lettes have appeared on the set for their first screen tests. After five weeks of anxiety, the majority of them are informed in the semblance of grade cards that their tests have proved satisfactory. With this encouragement they proceed with more assurance and eagerly anticipate the forthcoming traditional Freshman Frolic.

Class of "42", you're in the limelight! May your four years of work on location entitle you to the privilege of being starred as seniors.

This year's Golden Tornado co-captained by Clifford Hansen and Guy de Stefano won six games out of eleven and took second place honors in the Steel City.

The team will lose fourteen letter men through graduation, which will leave seven regulars for next year's team.

Five members of the team were selected as members to the Northern Indiana High School teams. Martin Pelka and Clifford Hansen, tackle and guard respectively, on first team; Guy De Stefano and Paul Komisarick, half-back and end respectively, on second team; and Joe Lucich, guard on third team.

The squad voted Guy De Stefano as their most valuable backfield man and Clifford Hansen as their most valuable lineman. Both boys were presented trophies by the Club Sar.

G. A. A.

The G.A.A. of Emerson, an organization for athletically-inclined high school girls, attracts many members. Its objective is to make girls feel that a certain amount of play must be included in their routine in order to live a well-balanced life.

After a girl has earned one hundred points in some particular sport, she is eligible for membership. These "scums" are then assigned "rushers" who initiate them.

The association is divided into three divisions, a fall, winter, and spring club. Each group meets monthly; the whole organization meets once a semester.

Members have a variety of awards for which to aim. Included are pins and the distinctive "E" monogram. After they purchase a sweater, stripes, and numerals may be mounted on the sleeve. The most coveted prize, however, is the loving cup awarded yearly to the outstanding senior members. She is selected by a committee who considers her scholarship, personality, character, and athletic ability.

Events on the club's social calendar include an annual fall dance, a Christmas party, and a spring banquet.

Each year in May officers are elected by members. Current officers are President, Gertrude Rolewicz; Vice-president, Estelle Smith; Treasurer, Doris Richardson; and Secretary, Carmen DeVolle.

The faculty sponsor of the group is Miss Gertrude Reynolds who gives generously of her time and thought to this organization.

BOYS' BAND

Director Hubert S. Warren again led a prize-winning Boys' Band. In the city's annual Merchants' Christmas Parade the band walked off with first honors as the best marching band in the city of Gary.

The group made its first appearance in October at the dedication of the new State Theatre.

In November the boys played a concert in the Legion Hut.

The annual band dance was sponsored by the band officers in January and as usual proved very successful.

The band joined with the rest of Emerson's loyal annual supporters and played a concert in February for the benefit of the "Emersonian". The receipts were divided between the two organizations, the band using their share as a sinking fund for new uniforms.

The one hundred boys joined with the girls' band in May to present a colorful concert.

GIRLS' BAND

The Emerson Girls' Band now boasts a membership of eighty-seven girls, bringing the membership to the highest point of its short career. The organization was formed by Miss Rosamund Martindale, and is now under the brilliant baton of Hubert S. Warren, Band Department head.

The band was much in demand this season. It stepped off in October to participate in the dedication of the new State Theatre.

Upholding their custom, the girls treated their mothers to a tea in November.

Donning their gold and grey uniforms in April, the band presented their annual spring concert.

The Boys' Band united with the Girls' Band in May to present a joint concert.

The officers of the band are: President, Doris Richardson; Vice-president, Mary Louise Thome; Manager, Jessie Levack; Assistant manager, Marjorie Drake; Librarian, Gizella Sotak; Assistant librarian, Mary Spitler; Property girl, Evelyn Joseph; Assistant property girl, Mary Agnes O'Connor; and Secretary, Doris Estes. ## R. O. T. C.

Attention! Companies A and B of Emerson's R.O.T.C. line up with a snap!

This first battalion in Gary attempts to instill in the student better citizenship, leadership, and discipline. It is under the direction of Sergeant Hershel Souders.

The Rifle Team is a popular extra activity of the Reserve Officers Training Corps. The members participate in competitive meets with other marksmen throughout the United States.

The R.O.T.C. also sponsors the glittering annual high light of the social calendar, the Military Ball.

A CAPPELLA CHOIR

Emerson school takes great pride in the A Cappella Choir, the only one of its kind in any of the Gary high schools. Since its organization by Miss Grace Sayers in 1930, it has gained wide popularity in the city, as well as at Emerson.

This year the choir made its first appearance at the Educational Week Open House. Members were then invited to sing at the Dunes Federated Woman's Club.

A splendid rendition of sacred music was given at the Christmas pageant and later at the traditional Easter production of Everyman.

The outstanding feature of the musical season is the Spring Concert which includes selections by the A Cappella Girls' Glee Club, and the Intermediate Choir.

Many hours of preparation are spent in polishing the numbers to be rendered at the Baccalaureate and Commencement exercises.

To finance the gold and gray robes in which they appear, the members sell Easter eggs.

As a diversion from their regular work the choir holds an annual picnic for members only.

BASKETBALL

BASKETBALL SCHEDULE

1937-1938

- Emerson 37-34 Alumni
- Emerson 24-10 Roosevelt
- Emerson 31-24 Washington
- Emerson 29-30 Whiting
- Emerson 25-30 Hammond
- Emerson 30-16 Hammond Tech
- Emerson 38-31 Washington, East Chicago
- Emerson 35-25 Lew Wallace
- Emerson 29-32 South Bend Central
- Emerson 33-15 Froebel
- Emerson 50-19 Horace Mann
- Emerson 42-29 Lew Wallace
- Emerson 35-39 Froebel

Winning nine of the thirteen games played, Emerson's basketball team rounded out an extremely successful season. Martin Pelka, guard, was voted the most valuable player of any high school team in Gary by the Inter-Club Council.

For the second consecutive year the Emerson Norsemen headed the parade in the Gary sectionals. Led by Peter Fogo and Frank Kotora, the regular forwards, the team went through the tournament the hard way. They had to down Hebron, Froebel, Lew Wallace, and Horace Mann in order to win. These were their third victories of the season over Lew Wallace and Horace Mann and the second over Froebel.

The Norsemen went on to play in the Regionals at Michigan City. The preliminary game was won from Rensselaer with a score of 25 to 23, but the final combat was lost to a superior Hammond team. The result was 29 to 17 in favor of Hammond.

CORRECTIVE GYM AND RHYTHM

Special classes are held at Emerson for girls recommended by the School Medical Department or by the family physician. Individual conferences are held with each student and special work and exercises are recommended to fit her needs.

Rhythm work is one of the special activities conducted by Miss Gertrude Reynolds, instructor of physical education. This course is designed to give the students more graceful bodies and to improve their physical poise.

In developing some of the principles of this work, a novel arrangement is used. Social dancing classes, combining both the boys' and girls' gym classes on one day a week, have been introduced. This has become very popular with the students.

Other features of rhythm work include marching and various sets of exercises. Miss Reynolds anticipates more and more of this type of work for the future.

SENIOR HONOR SOCIETY

This organization's purpose is to stimulate in the minds of high school students the existence of high ideals and to make them desirous of attaining these qualities. Members pledge themselves to uphold the ideals of the society.

Twice a year upperclassmen are considered by the faculty council for membership on the basis of scholarship, leadership, service, and character. Those found eligible are then welcomed into the society at a very impressive ceremony. Explanations of the four qualities and of the symbol, a keystone and flaming torch, are contained in the ritual of the ceremony.

The activities of the group are capably supervised by Miss Emma Peters.

In an attempt to carry out the quality, service, the society publishes a monthly newspaper called the Blast. The tremendous effort put forth by the Blast staff is well repaid by the reception given the paper by the student body. Proceeds from the sale of the Blast are being used to furnish a club room for the school.

In recent years steps have been taken to further the acquaintance of students of the various schools by inter-school meets. In the fall of 1937 the Honor Societies throughout the city met at Lew Wallace for an informal discussion of problems arising in school and those concerning youth in general. Then in the spring of 1938 Emerson acted as host to the others at the annual banquet. After a splendid repast each society presented a brief entertainment.

Members have the privilege of wearing a tiny gold replica of the society symbol which serves as a lasting reminder of their high school achievement.

ORCHESTRA

Emerson's concert orchestra, an organization of almost eighty members, has won well-deserved praise for its year's work. Under the baton of Director Hubert S. Warren, they made many commendable appearances.

The Little Symphony, a group composed of the advanced players in the orchestra, opened the season by making a trip to Lafayette.

The complete organization made its first appearance in a concert in April. Girls of the orchestra donned their swishing gold and gray taffeta formals, adding a colorful touch to the affair. William Bobrick, concert maestro, rendered the delightful violin solos.

Small groups of the orchestra supplied music for class plays, the opera, and other entertainments.

Student officers of this concert group are President, William Bobrick, who also acts as student conductor; Vice-President, Herbert Pehr; Manager, Barbara White; Assistant Manager, Dean Wold; Librarian, Doris Estes; Assistant Librarian, Evelyn Joseph; Property Manager, Mary Eaton; Assistant Manager, Constantine Vokorokos; Secretary, Robert Bulmer; and String Girl, Dorothea Dunn.

JUNIOR HONOR SOCIETY

The flaming torch, symbol of the Junior Honor Society, signifies a zeal for truth and a desire to lead and be of service. Members must pledge themselves to uphold these ideals to the best of their ability.

Only students in Junior High School with B averages who have attended Emerson a year are eligible for membership. They are voted in by faculty members on the basis of scholarship, leadership, service, and character, and are then inducted at an interesting ceremony.

Although the society holds many informal socials throughout the year, the May dance is the occasion most anticipated. The alumni of the organization are invited to this affair.

Miss Alice Ludberg is the faculty sponsor of the society.

Officers of the group are Bob Walton, president; Margaret Mountain, vice-president; Paul Thanos, treasurer; and Shirley Alger, secretary.

EVERYMAN

The reception given the first production of "The Summoning of Everyman" in 1936 was so favorable that the Auditorium Department decided to make it an Emerson tradition. Presented each year during Holy Week it is to Easter what our pageant is to Christmas.

The play offers an excellent opportunity for unique acting and effective staging. Students compete for the privilege of portraying the allegorical characters and work diligently on their interpretation.

The principal character, Everyman, represents all men who become so encumbered with their worldly possessions that they forget their God and the day of reckoning.

The play deals with Everyman's death and departure from this world, at which time he renounces folly and is sorry for his sins.

He receives eternal rest because he has contrition.

The play would not be complete without the impressive choral assistance of Miss Grace Sayers and the A Cappella choir.

This year the production was coached by Miss Ellen Peterson, who was congratulated for her fine interpretation.

BORROWED LOVELINESS

Steep your heart in star songs;
Some of their magic borrow.
For bits of borrowed loveliness
Will tide you through tomorrow.

MEMORY

On summer mornings
When the world lay freshly clothed
In bright sunshine,
While dew still lay in shining drops
On flower faces,
I have stood on sand dunes
Ankle deep in an overwhelming
Pinkness of wild roses
And silently, childishly
Thanked God for beauty.

RAIMENT

Ever on her heart she wears a song;
Sometimes it is a sheer thing, filmy and gray
As the fleet fading light
On a rain-swept day.
Again it's a gay song,
Hope and laughter
And all the inconsequential things
That easily shatter
On cruel splinters
Of broken dreams.
Then there are blue songs,
Despair and sorrow,
But always a new song
For every tomorrow.

EMERSON LOYALTY

Emerson, our school,
O'er other schools we'll always rule.
We will link your name
With fairness, honor, and with fame.
Each one, oh, Emerson,
Will stand by you till time is done,
And still with voices loud and clear
We'll cheer for you, Emerson.

HAIL TO THE GOLD AND GRAY

Hail to the Gold and Gray, colors of fame.
Truth and fidelity stand for your name.
Long may your valor last
After we're gone,
Shouting and praising, dear old Emerson.

A determined group of seniors started in September on the task of reviving an annual after five lean years without one. Wholly inexperienced, they had little or no conception of the obstacles to be met along the way.

After deciding on a motion picture theme for the book, the first step was to raise some of that indispensable factor, money. This was accomplished by a show with community singing, and old silent films which brought shrieks of laughter from the audience.

The next milestone was a subscription drive. Surpassing their goal of 400 by November 15, the staff began serious work on the actual book.

Words, such as "layout", "cuts", "bleeds", and "copy" assumed new meanings for these plucky individuals as they labored with their sponsor, Mrs. Catherine Greenwald, to make the "Emersonian" a success.

Plodding through picture schedules, conferences, cover selections, copy writing, and countless other details, they emerged to make the press deadline.

As a further supplement to finances candy sales were conducted by the staff. Another program was later planned with the Boys' Band and Art Department to purchase covers for the year-book.

Working at a feverish pace to get the project to press by April 25, the group toiled many class hours and overtime. In the breathing spell before its release from the press they prepared a little guide book, and a liberal list of do's and don'ts for the 1938-39 staff.

Splendid co-operation on the part of the entire school in every instance was a vital point in the success of the "Emersonian".

FADE-OUT

The Admirable Crichton and his companions in adventure, having stepped back in their own social classes, are now a precious memory; happy feet have swung to the sweetly-sad tunes of the Senior Farewell; the Convocation march is over with remembrance of due pomp and circumstance; the strains of "Remember Now Thy Creator" are still ringing with a haunting beauty; the revels of Senior Stunt Day have stirred many visibilities; the class gift, prophecy, and the last will and testament are now recorded history; the footsteps of the seniors have died away in the aisles of Memorial Auditorium. Thus the Seniors, the real stars in the 1938 Youth on Parade dissolve into that great body, Alumni of Emerson High School.

the 1990s, the number of people in the world who are undernourished has increased from 600 million to 800 million. The number of people who are malnourished has increased from 1.2 billion to 1.5 billion. The number of people who are obese has increased from 100 million to 300 million.

The World Bank has estimated that the cost of malnutrition to the world economy is $100 billion per year. The cost of obesity to the world economy is $100 billion per year. The cost of undernutrition to the world economy is $100 billion per year.
